

JAMES M. (JIM) SCOVEL

Product Manager

Jim Scovel is a Product Manager at AbsolutAire, Inc. His primary responsibilities include sales support for the company's full product range, as well as engineering duties involving AutoCad design development and project submittal drawings. He is also a prime coordinator for compiling shipped-product Operation & Maintenance (O&M) manuals.

Jim joined AbsolutAire at the beginning of 1995, as an engineering and product support specialist. He has remained with the company since then, growing in both responsibility and functional expertise. Jim continuously interacts with both sales reps and end-users alike.

In early 1994, Scovel earned a bachelor's of science degree in Business Administration from Davenport College in Grand Rapids, Mich. He graduated with honors, majoring in accounting with minors in social science and mathematics.

Jim is married and he and his wife Evy have twin girls, Mary and Mackenzie. The family resides in Grand Rapids, where they are involved with both community and family activities. Jim enjoys fishing, gaming, and occasional bartending for weddings, banquets, and private parties.

jscovel@absolutaire.com

